

INTERNATIONAL OCEAN INSTITUTE

DFO SCHOLARSHIPS FOR INDIGENOUS PEOPLES IN CANADA

IOI-Canada is pleased to offer three scholarships for Indigenous peoples in Canada to participate in its two-month training programme on Ocean Governance: Policy, Law and Management at Dalhousie University in Halifax. Funding is provided under Fisheries and Oceans Canada's Oceans Management Contribution Program and covers travel, tuition, course materials, field trips and living expenses including accommodation in a Dalhousie residence.

COURSE OVERVIEW

- Intensive, international, interdisciplinary course running full-time from 20th May – 17th July 2020.
- Held each year since 1981 with over 735 alumni from more than 100 countries.
- Global perspective on ocean and coastal governance issues with emphasis on viewing the ocean as a complex system with varied users and multiple, often competing and conflicting, uses.
- Over 220 hours of lectures, interactive discussions, field trips, simulations and exercises, individual participant presentations, plus concluding symposium and round table of ocean specialists.
- Key issues include Ocean Sciences, Law of the Sea, Integrated Coastal and Ocean Management, Climate Change, Fisheries & Aquaculture, GIS, Maritime Security, Marine Transportation, Energy, Sustainable Development.
- Up to 100 guest speakers including local and international experts and practitioners.
- Details available at www.dal.ca/ioihfx or via ioi@dal.ca.

2018 Indigenous participants at Dal

2019 Indigenous participants on field trip

TO APPLY

- Review the Training section of IOI-Canada's website (www.dal.ca/ioihfx), particularly the course announcement, What to Expect and last year's detailed Course Report.
- Watch the course video posted there and check out the newsletter article about the experiences of one of the 2019 Indigenous participants.
- Download and complete the application form, as applicable, then e-mail it to IOI-Canada.
- Contact 902 494 1977 or ioi@dal.ca if any questions.
- Although federal government employees are not eligible for these scholarships under the terms of the agreement, they are welcome to apply for the course with other funding.