

Chief Executive Officer

The Assembly of First Nations

Robert Half Executive Search is retained by the Assembly of First Nations to search for the position of Chief Executive Officer.

The Assembly of First Nations (AFN) is a national advocacy organization that works to advance the collective aspirations of First Nations individuals and communities across Canada on matters of national or international nature and concern. All First Nations in Canada have the right to be Members of the Assembly of First Nations.

The AFN is seeking a qualified and experienced Chief Executive Officer to be responsible for leading the AFN organization including strategic planning, operations and oversight, and management of human and financial resources (including risk management).

The CEO will also be responsible for directing the organization's daily activities to achieve the goals, objectives and mandate of the AFN, while maintaining the vision of the organization through lobbying, advocacy and providing support for First Nations issues.

To learn more about the Assembly of First Nations, please visit: <https://www.afn.ca>

To apply, please kindly send your CV to the below contact, quoting <REQ: AFN> in the subject line.

Isabelle Alain
Group Managing Director, Canada
Robert Half Executive Search
isabelle.alain@roberthalf.com
416-788 9244

